

An invitation to a unique twin community forum

Better Health for Twins & Multiples: From Conception to School & Beyond

Click here to register

When: 11.30am-3.30pm, Friday 13 October

Where: Twins Research Australia,
The University of Melbourne, Carlton

The Forum

TRA members, twins and parents of twins are invited to join with health professionals and researchers in this unique free community forum.

You'll hear from international and Australian experts about the latest findings on multiple-birth pregnancy, birth, early parenting, adolescence and beyond.

Plus, join in the conversation about what twins need from researchers, health professionals and government to live happy and healthy lives.

Free Event!
Lunch provided

International speaker

Keith Reed is the CEO of Twins and Multiple Births Association (TAMBA UK). He'll look at where support is most needed by multiple-birth families and how all partners can best work together - from health professionals and services, researchers, community organisations, governments and employers - to benefit the lives of twins, multiples and their families.

Click here for the full program, venue address and map

Topics covered

- Leading Australian multiple-birth obstetrician, Professor Mark Umstad: Current issues in managing multiple pregnancy and birth.
- Specialist twin/multiple-birth psychologist, Dr Katie Wood: Raising twin children from childhood to adolescence.
- Multiple-birth development expert, Professor Karen Thorpe: Twin children's language, social development and transition to school.
- Audience and expert panel discussion: Gaps, challenges and next steps in addressing the needs of twins and the multiple-birth community.

For further information visit twins.org.au, email us at info@twins.org.au or freecall 1800 037 021